NMDC's best ever cumulative volumes up to Jan'24

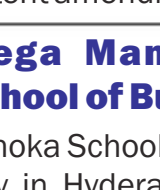

Navratna Mining Company (NMDC) produced 4.54 million tonnes and sold 4.56 million tonnes of iron ore in January 2024. With an 8% growth in production and a 19% uptick in sales from January 2023 volumes, NMDC has achieved its best ever January-month sales since inception.
Congratulating his team on the stellar growth run, Amitava Mukherjee, CMD (Additional Charge), said, "In its standing as the largest iron ore producer in India, commanding one-sixth share of the domestic market, NMDC's sustained growth tells of the booming iron and steel sector. As the Economic Budget for the next fiscal year continues to lay emphasis on infrastructure development, we are heavily investing to build up our production and evacuation infrastructure while enhancing our technical and digital strengths. NMDC has aligned its targets to meet the escalating demand for iron ore and is headed for milestone production in FY24."

India is on track to cross 1 lakh patent grants by the year 2025 claims Subhajit Saha

It's been a milestone year for the Indian Patent Office, crossing 75,000 patent grants on the eve of 75th Republic Day in 2023-24. The journey has been a roller coaster for both the inventors and the patent office. This exciting time is here to stay, and India is on the right path to cross 1 lakh patent grants by the year 2025.
On the other side, there is music for the ears of copyright holders, with Indian singers and musicians having secured their rights in the UK by collaborating with the UK Collective Management Organisation (CMO) for performers and recording rights holders. This arrangement will help Indian singers and musicians receive 25% of the public performance revenue from sound recordings collected by the UK Collective.
Subhajit Saha, Patent Agent and Head of IP& Legal at Resolute Group, says that the Indian IP office has been in a fast-track mode for the last 3-4 years. Earlier, a patent grant used to take 5-7 years, and today, in a smooth-sailing case, it is taking a maximum of 2-3 years to get a grant. Trademark registrations are now taking 8-10 months, up from 3-4 years earlier.
Another welcome move for the increase in filing was the reduction in the fee for educational institutions by 80%, which has encouraged academia to file for more patents and expedited examination of patents available for women innovators and startups for faster grants. Stakeholders believe that the growth curve for the Indian patent system will rise in the coming years with the draft patent amendment rules 2023 round the corner.

Could Preamble have been amended without altering Constitution’s adoption date, SC asks

NEW DELHI: The Supreme Court on Friday agreed to examine whether the words “socialist” and “secular” could have been inserted in the Preamble of the Indian Constitution in 1976 even though the date of the adoption of the Constitution remained unaltered -- November 26, 1949.

Hearing a pair of petitions that have sought deletion of words “secular” and “socialist” from the Preamble, a bench of justices Sanjiv Khanna and Dipankar Datta clarified that the court did not mean to say that Preamble cannot be amended at all, but the question arose if it could have been tweaked when the date of adoption of the Constitution was a part of the Preamble too. “Just consider this...Can the Preamble be changed while keeping the other date intact? This is perhaps the only Preamble we have seen that comes with a date. On so and so date (November 26,

The court has fixed the next hearing in April.

1949) we give ourselves this Constitution...this is also a part of the Preamble,” the bench asked counsel Vishnu Shankar Jain and former parliamentarian Subramanian Swamy. While Jain represented two advocates and a social worker who moved a common petition, Swamy filed a petition in his personal capacity.

“It’s not that Preamble cannot be amended. The question is about the other date,” the bench clarified. The court has fixed the next hearing in April.

The Preamble is an introductory statement that sets out the Constitution’s guiding purpose and principles as the master document. It was adopted on November 26, 1949, by the Constituent Assembly of India and came into effect on January 26, 1950.

It initially read: “We, the people of India, having solemnly resolved to constitute India into a sovereign democratic republic and to secure to all its citizens: justice, social, economic and political; liberty of thought, expression, belief, faith and worship; equality of status and of opportunity; and to promote among them all fraternity assuring the dignity of the individual and the unity and integrity of the Nation; In our Constituent assembly this 26th day of November, 1949, do hereby adopt, enact and give to ourselves this Constitution.” The words “socialist” and “secular” were inserted in 1976 by the 42nd Constitution Amendment, passed by the then Indira Gandhi government. The first line now mentions “sovereign socialist secular democratic republic”.

The petition filed jointly by Balram Singh, Karunesh Kumar Shukla and Pravesh Kumar in 2020 argued that the amendment made in 1976 was “antithetical to the constitutional tenets as well as the historical and cultural theme of India” because the Constitution permits them the right to practice, profess and propagate their own religion under Article 25.

“The amendment was per se illegal for violating the concept of freedom of speech and expression enumerated in Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution and the right to freedom of religion guaranteed under Article 25 of the Constitution,” it said.

The plea sought a direction for the Union government to declare that the concept of ‘socialism’ and ‘secularism’ referred to the nature of the republic and was limited to the working of the sovereign function of the State and not applicable to citizens, political parties and social organisations.

The petition has also challenged the insertion of words “secular” and “socialist” in Section 29 A (5) of the Representation of People Act by an amendment in 1989. The provision makes it compulsory for a political party applying for registration before Election Commission of India, “to make specific provision in its memorandum or rules and regulations that the association or body shall bear true faith and allegiance to the Constitution of India as by law established and to the principles of “socialism” and “secularism” and democracy and would uphold the sovereignty and integrity of India”.

The petition, filed by Jain, further argued that the original Constitution makers deliberately chose to keep these concepts out of the Preamble.

Swamy’s petition, also filed in 2020 contended that it was not possible for policymakers to vary, alter or repeal the Preamble since it was not equivalent to an ordinary statute.

AePS FRAUDS USING DUMMY FINGERS ON RISE, PARL PANEL TOLD

letters@hindustantimes.com

NEW DELHI: The ministry of home affairs had informed the parliamentary standing committee on communications and information technology that the use of “dummy fingers or rubber fingers” to fraudulently withdraw money using Aadhaar-enabled Payment System (AePS) was on the rise.

“Biometrics cloning: We are seeing this also. They use dummy fingers or rubber fingers to take out money through the Aadhaar-enabled Payment System. This has been enhanced. We are working with Aadhaar and NPCI to end to this. We should see some reduction in the coming weeks,” the MHA submitted. The committee had asked the ministry of electronics and technology if Aadhaar data was leaked when AePS was misused and what actions had been taken to prevent leakage of Aadhaar data in misuse of AePS. Meity in its submission, denied any data leakage. “As reported by UIDAI (Unique Identification Authority of India), no breach of Aadhaar card holders’ data has occurred from the Central Identities Data Repository maintained by the UIDAI in which the database of biometric and demographic information of Aadhaar is maintained”.

Meity questioned over ICMR data breach

The committee also questioned Meity over reports of Aadhaar data of more than 800 million Indians being leaked. The ministry said the data in question was not from the UIDAI database as the data fields in the leaked sample data “do not exist in the UIDAI database or is different from that of UIDAI database”.

Top court takes note of pregnancies in Bengal prisons, seeks report

letters@hindustantimes.com

NEW DELHI: The Supreme Court on Friday sought an enquiry into the reports that women prisoners are getting pregnant inside the jails across West Bengal and that 196 babies are currently staying in different prison facilities.

A bench of justices Sanjay Kumar and Ahsanuddin Amanullah expressed concerns over the reported situation, deciding to intervene in the matter. It sought the assistance of senior advocate Gaurav Agrawal, who has been helping out the court as an amicus curiae in a case relating to prison reforms.

“Have you seen the report? It says women inmates are getting pregnant inside jails across the state of West Bengal? We hope this is not the situation in other states as well. Please, assist us,” the bench told Agrawal. Responding, the senior counsel said that he would seek the required information from the West Bengal government officials and submit an appropriate note in this regard.

Notably, justice Amanullah is a member of a bench led by justice Hima Kohli that has been hearing a suo moto petition titled “Inhuman conditions in Prisons” wherein the court monitors various aspects of prison reforms, including the number of jails, sanctioned and actual capacity of prisoners, and pending proposals by the Centre and states to create more jails.

In its latest order, the bench of justices Kohli and Amanullah called the issue of overcrowding of prisons “stark and worrying”, directing committees to be set up in each district within to prepare a roadmap on the number of jails needed to cater to prison population for the next 50 years. The order on January 30 in the 2013 case added that the committees, to be headed by district judges concerned, will also examine the needs of the respective districts and make proposals over and above those that have been laid down under the Model Prison Manual. The query by the court on Friday is understood to be a part of the same proceedings. On Thursday, the Calcutta high court was informed by advocate Tapas Kumar Bhanja, who was appointed amicus curiae by the court in November 2017 in a case on conditions of prisons, that women inmates lodged in various prisons of West Bengal are getting pregnant while in custody.

Placing two notes before a division bench of high court chief justice TS Sivagnanam and justice Supratim Bhattacharya, Bhanja said: “It is interesting to note that women prisoners, while in custody, are getting pregnant. Subsequently babies are born in the prison. At present, 196 babies are staying in different prisons of West Bengal.” The amicus curiae suggested a prohibition on the entry of male employees of prisons into the enclosures of women prisoners.

As reported by HT on Friday, as of January 1, 2024, around 26,000 people are staying in 60 prisons across West Bengal and of these, around 8-10% comprise women.

Wagle’s car attacked after remarks on PM

Abhay Khairnar
puneletters@htlive.com

PUNE: Despite police bandobast, the vehicle in which journalist Nikhil Wagle was travelling, was attacked at Khandoji Baba Chowk on Friday. Wagle was escorted to Rasta Seva Dal’s office, where he was scheduled to give a speech, with the help of the Congress and Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) supporters and their alliance partners.

Wagle, actor Amol Palekar and lawyer Aseem Sarode were to speak at “Nirbhay Bano” public meet, organised by Rasta Seva Dal and other organisations, at Sane Guruji Smarak.

Wagle said, “Police permission was taken for the programme where I was to speak. The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) leaders had threatened me openly and said that they will oppose the event. The Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) supporters ensured my safety.” Meanwhile, BJP office-bearers, and supporters of Shiv Sena (Shinde faction) and Ajit Pawar’s NCP had gathered in numbers at programme venue to condemn Wagle statement. An FIR was filed against Wagle in Pune for allegedly making offensive remarks about PM Modi and BJP leader LK Advani. During his journey to an event, protestors vandalized the vehicle he was in, prompting a police complaint from RSS leader Sunil Deodhar. BJP threatened to disrupt Wagle’s program. Wagle stated that police would question him on Monday regarding the case. He’s booked under IPC sections 153A, 500, and 505 at Vishrambaug police station for his comments. This followed Wagle’s alleged post referring to Advani and the PM as “rioter” after the Bharat Ratna announcement.

PAK POLLS

Thursday’s election was about 50%, it became apparent that the PTI had done a better job in mobilising voters through its extensive grassroots network. There were also reports the PML-N, which had been widely tipped to emerge as the single largest party following the crackdown on the PTI, had not been able to get more of its supporters to the polling booths.

Sharif, the 74-year-old three-time premier who returned to Pakistan last October after four years in self-exile, said on Friday he will seek to form a government with the support of other parties, marking a shift from his rejection of a coalition just a day earlier. He tasked his younger brother, former premier Shehbaz Sharif, to meet leaders of other parties to join the coalition.

However, it was clear that the independent candidates backed by the PTI would play a decisive role in the formation of the next government. People familiar with the matter said the PTI was mulling the possibility of getting the independent candidates to join the Majlis Wahdat-e-Muslimeen Pakistan (MWM), a party led by Allama Raja Nasir Abbas, a close ally of Khan, so that they could function cohesively. This would also serve the goal of keeping the independent candidates together in the face of reports that some of them could be pressured by the military establishment to join other smaller parties that could extend support to a government formed by the PML-N.

Independent candidates can join any party within 72 hours of victory — a practice that has frequently led to horse-trading in Pakistani politics. “These elections were quite crucial for both the PTI and the PML-N. The PTI has put up a very good fight in these elections despite the fact that they lost their iconic election symbol, the cricket bat, just before the elections,” said Mehmal Sarfraz, a Lahore-based journalist.

“A lot of PTI leaders and candidates are in hiding, so could not campaign, and yet they managed to motivate their voters to come out and vote. The PML-N, on the other hand, seemed complacent and seemingly didn’t focus too hard on getting their voters out on polling day. They were looking for a simple majority but now they can’t form a government without coalition partners,” she said. Getting the independent candidates to join a party would also ensure a share of the 76 reserved seats in the 342-member National Assembly or lower house of Parliament.

FM ON UPA GOVT

ter Jayanathi Natarajan and alleged that the government at the time sought kickbacks to clear environment projects, referring to them as “Jayanathi tax”. Initiating the debate in the Lower House on the “White Paper on the Indian Economy”, the minister said the previous UPA government committed “scandal after scandal” in their 10 years of rule and left the economy in a sorry state when it exited. “God knows, what would be the condition of this country today if they would have continued,” she said in her opening remarks in the House.

The White Paper – a 60-page document released in the Parliament on Thursday – is a comparison between the Narendra Modi-led NDA government (2014-2024) and the 10-year rule of the UPA regime (2004-14).

Sitharaman said the leadership issue in the UPA regime “was at the heart of the problem” and it is “at the centre of UPA’s scam-driven 10 years, mismanagement and crony capitalism.” Addressing the chair, she said: “Sir, hon’ble Sonia Gandhiji was super prime minister and the chairperson of the National Advisory Council, an extra-constitutional and an unaccountable person.”

Sitharaman said “710 files” were sent to NAC for approval, which was “unconstitutional use of power”. Former finance minister P Chidambaram of the Congress referred to the White Paper as a “white-lie paper” and a “hatchet job”. “Even the authors will not claim that it is an academic, well-researched or scholarly paper,” Chidambaram said in a statement. He added that no government on assuming office had made as “wild promises as the Modi government and broken them without an expression of regret”. The White Paper, the minister said, is prepared with responsibility “so that the records of Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha have the factual information on the economy” and it would be a “record for posterity” about “the efforts made by a Prime Minister [referring to Modi] to restore India’s glory” from among the fragile five to the top five.

She said the coal scam caused “bhayanak nuksaan” (tremendous loss) to Bharat as it led to cancellation of 204 mining blocks by the SC. That impacted domestic output, forced India to import coal to produce electricity even though the country has huge coal reserves. The Modi government conducted coal block auctions for commercial mining as energy is necessary for the world’s fastest growing major economy, she said.
